We, Her Majesty's most dutiful and faithful subjects, the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, in Session assembled, approach Your Honour with sentiments of unfeigned devotion and loyalty to Her Majesty's person and Government, and humbly beg to present for Your Honour's acceptance a Bill intituled, "An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Public Service for the fiscal years ending the 31st day of March, 1964, and the 31st day of March, 1965."

To this Act the Royal Assent was announced by the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly in the following words:—

"The Honourable the Lieutenant Governor doth thank Her Majesty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, accept their benevolence and assent to this Bill in Her Majesty's name."

The Honourable the Lieutenant Governor was then pleased to deliver the following gracious speech:—

Mr. Speaker and Members of The Legislative Assembly of Ontario:

During this Second Session of the 27th Parliament, Honourable Members have accomplished much in the way of legislation, the Budget review, the study of the estimates of the departments and the reports of the various departments, commissions and committees. I commend you for the arduous work you have carried out during the last few months.

The legislation that you have passed will lead to further opportunities and benefits for all the people of Ontario and will ensure that their rights are more fully protected. Many of the Bills approved by the House were designed to modernize the administrative functions of the departments and their branches in the light of present needs and to bring up to date the provisions of our earlier legislative enactments. As a result, two new departments have been established and the activities of a number of others reorganized in whole or in part, while many of our statutes have been considerably revised. Among the measures that have comprised the Government's program and that have received your lengthy consideration have been the following:

University Development

This Session marked the beginning of a new era in government-university relationships with the passage of Acts creating the Department of University Affairs and the Ontario Universities Capital Aid Corporation, which, in conjunction with the existing Advisory Committee on University Affairs, will give consideration to university matters. The formation of the new department will enable the Government and the universities to maintain constant communication on matters of mutual concern and to undertake fundamental studies in areas related to provincial assistance to higher education and the co-ordination of future growth. The new corporation will permit the province to spread the tremendous costs of capital expansion over a longer period of time while placing the procedures for capital assistance on a year-round basis, thus facilitating the planning and development of our universities.

Two further Acts enable the province to continue its program of university development and expansion, to meet the needs of rapidly increasing enrolments. New charters were approved for Brock University and the University of Guelph. The first created an entirely new institution to serve the people of the Niagara Peninsula. The latter arose from the solid foundations already existing in the Federated Colleges of the Department of Agriculture at Guelph.

Grants to the Universities for operating purposes, totalling nearly $48 million, were approved by the House.

Education

Several statutes of great importance in the field of education, including Acts amending The Public Schools Act and The Secondary Schools and Boards of Education Act, were approved by the House. The establishment of the township school area as the general unit for the administration of the rural and small urban public schools and the requirement that all parts of a county be included in a high school district will lead to more effective educational opportunities for pupils living in rural communities. Public school consultative committees will be appointed in every county to consider the enlarging of county school areas. Provision has also been made for crediting the attendance of pupils for grant purposes on days when weather conditions interfere with the normal operation of the schools.

The Ontario Foundation Tax Plan has been implemented, and you have voted the sum of $285 million for general legislative grants to be paid the various school boards in the province.

Amendments to The Schools Administration Act will enable a school board consisting of more than three trustees to pay an honorarium on an established scale to its members, if the board so desires.

Funds have been voted to enable free text books to be provided to Grade 9 and 10 students, beginning in September of this year.

Vocational centres are being constructed at Ottawa, London and Sault Ste. Marie, while a new Institute of Technology is being built at Ottawa and an addition is being planned at Kirkland Lake.

Financial arrangements have been made for defraying the cost of operating schools for retarded children through the province paying a large percentage of the expenditures, with the remaining small balance coming from the local municipalities. This new legislation removes the necessity of raising money for this purpose through donations from the public.

Health

To assist further in the provision of hospital accommodation, The Public Hospitals Act was amended to permit low cost loans, up to a maximum of $5,000 per bed, to active-treatment general hospitals. Funds were provided to enable hospital construction grants to be increased to approximately $5,300 per bed.

A forward step was the legislation to provide Homes for Special Care, for those discharged from Ontario Hospitals for the Mentally Ill, but without home or family. This will enable the Ontario Hospitals to carry on their normal function and, at the same time, will provide a more homelike setting for these patients.

A new principle, in keeping with modern concepts of treatment and care of the mentally disturbed, was seen with the establishment of a Board to operate the Institute of Psychiatry, now under construction in Toronto.

A new program was set up to assist municipalities with their air pollution control problems, whereby a Board of Health instituting an approved program of control will be eligible for grant assistance.

Public Welfare

Honourable Members have given approval to several amendments to The Mothers' Allowances Act, reducing the waiting period for the granting of these allowances. A deserted mother may be granted an allowance after three months, instead of six months as previously. The allowance to unmarried mothers may be paid when the child is three months old, instead of six months. Mothers whose husbands are imprisoned may obtain the allowance when the husband enters prison, instead of having to wait till the husband has served six months.

By an amendment to The Day Nurseries Act, the province has extended to nine years the age of children for which it will share with municipalities in the costs of providing day nursery care, where the mothers are employed outside the home. Previously, the provincial contribution was limited to the costs of day nursery care for pre-school children.

Pension Plans

The Pension Benefits Act was amended to repeal all of its provisions dealing with standard pensions, so that there is no longer a requirement to establish a minimum pension plan. The parts of the Act pertaining to supplementary pension plans and solvency requirements were retained. In addition, the portability rules for supplementary plans were extended to all pension plans, regardless of the number of employees.

The pension plans for our public employees—as set out in The Public Service Superannuation Act and The Teachers' Superannuation Act—were changed to bring them into line with the provisions of the amended Pension Benefits Act.

Your Government is awaiting with a great deal of interest more details of the revised Canada Pension Plan.

Housing

The Ontario Housing Corporation Act is legislation of major significance, and its passing will enable the Government to take full advantage of changes proposed in the Federal Housing Statute. The first task of the Housing Corporation will be to eliminate bottlenecks in the housing programs and to assist those families whose incomes are such that they cannot obtain adequate accommodation on the private market. The Housing Corporation will be given the responsibility of evolving and putting into effect the arrangements necessary to ensure that rental housing in Metropolitan Toronto and other areas of the province is substantially increased.

Labour

In the field of labour legislation, important new programs have increased the rights of our working men and women. A comprehensive minimum wage program, designed to prevent exploitation of the province's labour force, is being brought into effect throughout the province. It provides for a general minimum wage rate of $1.00 an hour, to be introduced by stages in all parts of the province.

The important amendments made in The Industrial Standards Act will increase both its usefulness and its flexibility as a means whereby employers and employees can negotiate and establish fair working standards for their industry or trade.

With the passage of the new Apprenticeship and Tradesmen's Qualification Act, the basis has been established for a complete modernization of the apprentice training system and its introduction into new areas of industry where today's economic developments urgently require highly-skilled manpower.

Significant steps were taken to protect the safety of working people throughout the province. The Industrial Safety Act constitutes a complete modernization of the former Factory, Shop and Office Building Act. The Workmen's Compensation Act was amended, not only to expand its benefits, but also to promote safer practices in industry and to effect a closer co-ordination of safety education programs.

Amendments were made to The Labour Relations Act to simplify and expedite certain of its procedures, mainly in the area of conciliation.

Administration of Justice

The desirability to protect the public in certain fields has been met by the introduction of a number of important statutes.

The Ontario Law Reform Commission has been established with an unrestricted discretion to investigate into and report upon any laws of the province which, in the opinion of the Commission, might be revised or otherwise made more consistent with the society in which we live. While the Commission may take under advisement matters which are referred to it by the Attorney General, it is not restricted in any way as to the laws it may review.

Under the provisions of The Used Car Dealers Act, a system of licensing used car dealers and salesmen will be set up. This Act will provide a means of supervision, the administration of which will be assisted by the industry itself.

The House has made uniform those licensing procedures which are presently available for the assistance of the public and which relate to real estate and business brokers, mortgage brokers and collection agencies.

Our system for the administration of justice has been further improved. Provision has been made in The Magistrates Act for the appointment of a Chief Magistrate who will be of assistance in the organization of the work in all of the Magistrates Courts in the province. This office will perform a function similar to that of the Chief Judge of the County Courts. The Crown Attorneys Act provides for the appointment of special Crown Attorneys who may be utilized in any part of the province.

Provision has been made for hearings by the Ontario Police Commission, to assist municipalities and Boards of Police Commissioners in determining the adequacy of their police and law enforcement services. These and other amendments which are contained in The Police Act should materially assist in maintaining law and order throughout our municipalities and in continuing to keep criminal forces at bay. The bargaining procedures which are available for the police forces of the province have been improved.

Municipal Affairs

The amendments that have been introduced to municipal legislation are designed generally to improve, and make more efficient, administration in the province.

The Assessment Act amendments authorize the appointment of district assessors who will carry out the assessment for all the municipalities and localities in a district. The system of county assessment commissioners and district assessors will provide the machinery by which uniform assessment of real property throughout the province may be more expeditiously achieved. Another amendment will ensure that owners of land subject to tax sale proceedings will receive actual notice of their right to redeem.

Amendments to The Department of Municipal Affairs Act will give the department clear authority to investigate any of the affairs of a municipality on its own initiative. These powers are in addition to the powers to conduct an audit into the financial affairs of a municipality upon petition of a certain number of ratepayers. The department, as a result of a provincially-ordered municipal audit or of an enquiry or investigation, will be able to make orders requiring the municipality to correct any errors or deficiencies disclosed by such enquiries.

The Municipality of Metropolitan Toronto Act was amended to authorize agreements with any governmental authority to carry out studies of the entire Metropolitan Toronto planning area.

Amendments to The Municipal Act clarify the powers of the Ontario Municipal Board when dealing with annexations, so as to permit the creation of urban service areas. A municipality or a local board is given the power, with the approval of the Municipal Board, to expropriate from another municipality or local board with similar powers of expropriation, to prevent the possibility of important projects being held up indefinitely. A new section designed to prevent irresponsible persons from preying on the public will permit the municipal licensing of chimney repair men and persons in the business of repairing or renovating buildings or constructing fallout shelters. The present limitations on expenditures for publicity purposes based on assessment have been removed and a limit of $60,000 substituted.

Amendments to The Planning Act provide for the transfer, from planning boards to committees of adjustment, of the power to consent to the conveyance of land, where a by-law for subdivision control is in effect, and certain powers to impose conditions to the consent are clarified. The effect is to leave with planning boards their prime function of dealing with an official plan, while a committee of adjustment will have the complete machinery for handling consents to conveyances, whereas, previously, only a rejected or an objecting applicant could appeal.

Municipal councils are authorized to pass by-laws setting out standards for maintenance and occupancy of residential property and requiring it to be maintained to comply with those standards. A committee may extend the time during which such repairs or maintenance have to be done. This legislation gives municipalities the means to prevent the creation or extension of blighted areas.

Economic Development

Honourable Members have given approval to the Government's economic development program, which has contributed greatly to the present prosperous state of the Ontario economy. Additional funds have been voted for the promotion of manufacturing exports, which have been rising at an annual average rate of more than 20 percent for the past three years, and for financial and research assistance to manufacturing and other industries. This assistance has contributed to increased production and employment in the economy to the extent that by March unemployment had fallen to its lowest level in seven years, and employment had increased by 124,000 from the previous year.

Legislation was passed to establish The Sheridan Park Corporation, which will ensure that the area centred in the Ontario Research Community on the fringe of Metropolitan Toronto will be devoted solely to creating the largest industrial research complex in Canada.

Energy and Resources Management

One of the most important duties of the new Department of Energy and Resources Management involves a provincial water management program, co-ordinating the efforts of the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Directorate, the Conservation Authorities and the Ontario Water Resources Commission. The last two of these have been made the responsibility of the Minister of the expanded department. As a result of the plans made by the Government to relieve the water shortage in certain areas, a new three-point provincial program in regard to Ontario's water problems and resources has been effected. Under it, the Government will give increased financial support in three fields: the construction of water supply reservoirs, the construction of farm ponds, and an emergency rural water supply for drought-stricken areas.

The Energy Act and The Ontario Energy Board Act were revised and updated in the light of experience, in order to improve administration. The Ontario Energy Board Act was changed to clarify the powers of the Board, an interpretation section was added, its provisions relating to the storage of gas were strengthened and the pipeline provisions were broadened to deal expressly with pipeline stations. The procedures for appeal to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council from orders and decisions of the Energy Board were brought into line with those of the Ontario Municipal Board, thus bringing about uniformity of practice in these matters.

Agriculture

Several Acts designed to maintain the modern concept of the family farm and to strengthen the position of the rural producer were introduced. The Junior Farmer Establishment Act was amended to increase maximum loans to Junior Farmers to $40,000 from $20,000. Over 500 loans have been made since the Act was amended in the 1962-63 Session of the Legislature.

The Farm Products Marketing Act was amended to enable farm producer associations to raise funds for improved marketing of their commodities through promotion, education and research. The apple growers, after a vote, have already availed themselves of this new provision of the Act.

The Department of Agriculture Act was amended to provide assistance through bank loans, guaranteed by the Government, to farmers required to haul emergency water supplies.

To strengthen the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development organization in Ontario and to develop effective local programs, ARDA Committees are being formed in every county and will provide a direct link with the Ontario ARDA Directorate.

A barberry eradication program will be initiated this year by the Department of Agriculture, while a study and research program to deal with the problem of damage to crops by blackbirds has been established.

A Mastitis Control program will be initiated this year to deal with this disease, which seriously affects milk production among some of the dairy herds of Ontario.

Under an amendment to The Plant Diseases Act, municipalities may pass by-laws enabling them to administer and pay the cost of programs to combat designated diseases, such as Dutch Elm Disease.

Lands and Forests

Honourable Members have voted large sums to enable the Department of Lands and Forests to expand its forest and park development and wildlife protection programs and to open additional parks, waterfowl hunting areas and public fishing ponds. The innate qualities for forest protection and fire-fighting of the Ontario Indian will be further recognized in the organization for forest protection this year, with their inclusion in special fire-fighting units. The number of Junior Forest Rangers will be increased to 1,600, distributed in 66 ranger camps in Northern Ontario.

Amendments were approved to The Crown Timber Act to modernize some of the procedures in regard to licences, and to The Game and Fish Act to improve practices involved in the sport of hunting.

Mining

The recent mining discoveries in Northern Ontario have been most gratifying and it is to be hoped that they will result in an early expansion of our mineral production. The systematic mapping carried out at intervals by the Department of Mines in the Timmins area and the compilation map of that mining district recently prepared have been, and will continue to be, of great assistance in the wide-spread explorations taking place. Two geological field parties are being diverted to the new discovery area.

Funds were voted to increase the Department's survey and mapping programs, to carry out a new program of seismic exploration along Hudson and James Bays, and to permit a continuation of the airborne magnetometer surveys.

The Mining Act was amended to modernize some of its procedures in line with present-day practices.

Highways

With respect to the new legislation affecting the highways of Ontario, the underlying purpose has been to facilitate the granting of still greater financial assistance to the municipalities. Agreements with municipalities providing for a more generous provincial sharing of the costs of controlled-access urban expressways or freeways were authorized. The contribution of a city or separated town to a suburban roads commission will be based on the local assessment as adjusted by the provincial equalizing factor, thus permitting a more uniform sharing of costs.

An amendment to The Highway Improvement Act will enable roads that are partly in territory without municipal organization, as well as those wholly in such areas, to be designated as tertiary roads.

The Local Roads Board Act enables the formation of such Boards on a voluntary basis, in place of the present Statute Labour Boards. The new Act will make possible a more efficient and equitable method of administering some 5,000 miles of public roads in those parts of the province that are without municipal organization. The rate of financial contribution by the province will vary between 66-2/3 percent and 80 per cent, compared with the standard 50 percent basis applicable to the Statute Labour Boards. In addition, Department of Highways staff will perform the work laid out by the representatives of the local people who will be elected to the Local Roads Boards.

Funds have been voted for the one-third subsidy on construction of the right-of-way for the Bloor-Danforth Subway in Metropolitan Toronto, and for the purchase of a further $20 million worth of debentures for subway construction purposes. The Metropolitan Toronto Transportation Committee has expanded its fields of study.

An agreement has been made with the Federal Government whereby it will pay about 38 percent of the costs of the crossings involved in the twinning of the Welland Canal.

Transport

As the mandatory impounding of motor vehicles following conviction for certain offences has, in some circumstances, led to hardship for the members of an offender's family, The Highway Traffic Act was amended to remove mandatory impounding and to replace it with provision for discretionary impounding by a magistrate or judge. In the interests of greater traffic safety and to ensure that a motorist travelling through different municipalities in Ontario will not be met with conflicting laws, the Act was also amended to provide for uniform regulations of traffic at pedestrian crossovers. Buses may proceed without stopping at railway crossings protected by warning lights, as is presently permitted when the crossing is protected by gates. Urban municipalities have been given the authority to increase the speed limit on limited access highways within their jurisdiction to 60 miles per hour.

Tourism and Information

In line with its expanded responsibilities and reorganized administration, the name of the Department of Travel and Publicity was changed to Tourism and Information. Regulations under The Tourist Establishments Act, administered by the department, were altered during the current Session to make them more effective.

For the first time, the department has published major travel publications in both of Canada's official languages, as the first part of its program of reorganization of publications. Copies of the department's advertising schedules have been sent to regional tourist councils, chambers of commerce and other interested bodies in an attempt to secure co-operative advertising in local, national and U.S. media.

The department, in conjunction with the University of Western Ontario, will commence the reconstruction of Fort Ste. Marie I during the summer of 1964, with the anticipated date of completion being 1967. It is the site of the first white settlement in Canada west of Quebec City and already attracts 1/4 million tourists each year. The work on the Fort is the first stage of the reconstruction of the historical and archaeological sites in the area.

Tax-Sharing Arrangements

In the field of federal-provincial relations, the Government welcomes the new improvements that have been made in our tax-sharing arrangements with the Federal Government. These improvements, which provide the province with a larger share of the succession duty and personal income tax fields, represent a more adequate recognition of the increasing burden of provincial responsibilities.

At the Conference last November, the Federal Government undertook to increase the abatement of federal tax in the succession duty field from 50 percent to 75 percent, effective April 1, 1964. At the request of my Government and the Government of our sister Province of Quebec, the Federal Government agreed to compensate these two provinces in the current fiscal year by direct payment of an amount equivalent to the 25 percent abatement. This arrangement has enabled the Government to defer amendments to The Succession Duty Act until the Ontario Committee on Taxation has completed its enquiry into the provincial tax structure.

In April of this year, following the Conference in Quebec City, the Federal Government announced an acceleration in the rate of federal withdrawal from the individual income tax field over the remaining two years of the current tax-sharing arrangements. The federal abatement, which is 18 percent in the current fiscal year, was formerly scheduled to rise by a point a year—to 19 percent next year and 20 percent in the following year. The acceleration will now be increased to three points a year, and the federal abatement will rise to 21 percent next year and to 24 percent in 1966.

On the basis of current tax yields, it is estimated that the improvements in the provincial share of the succession duty and of individual income tax fields will produce, when fully implemented, an additional tax revenue to the province of $57 million a year, in addition to the increases under the present arrangements. In view of its expanding responsibilities, the Government is gratified by this upward adjustment in its share of the major fields of direct taxation.

Committees

An interim report of the Select Committee on Consumer Credit was received and the Committee's life was extended to enable it to continue its work. The Select Committee on Municipal Legislation is continuing its extensive review of the municipal laws of this province. Select Committees on Youth, Aging and Mining have been set up, and their reports on the matters involved in these important fields will be awaited with a great deal of interest.

A Royal Commission on Civil Liberties and Human Rights was established to enquire into the ways that these rights can be strengthened and guaranteed. The Royal Commission on Redistribution is continuing its work.

These measures and the many others you have approved, as well as the funds you have voted for the operations of the Government, will promote the continuing development of the province and increase the rights, opportunities and security of our people.

My thanks go to the Honourable Members, whose untiring labours were so generously given, and to our civil servants for their invaluable work.

May Divine Providence guide you in the days to come.

The Provincial Secretary then said:—
